

Message from the Chairman of Caritas Australia

Dear Friends,

Each year, Lent offers us the opportunity to share what we have with those who have less.

In 2006, just over 8 million dollars was raised for Project Compassion. Your generosity enabled Caritas Australia to do so much to help so many people in need around the world. Thank you.

2007 marks the 40th anniversary of Pope Paul VI's encyclical Populorum Progressio – On the Development of Peoples. This was an extraordinary document for its time and is just as relevant today as it was in 1967 when it was first published.

The overarching message of Populorum Progressio is that we all have a role to play in empowering people to help themselves break free from poverty and be “architects of their own progress.”

Some key elements in Populorum Progressio include: a “striving for fuller growth”; that “development [is] the new name for peace”; the importance of challenging discrimination; that development is more than economic growth; the value of education; the necessity of involving people in their own development. These important elements frame the work of Caritas Australia and are reflected in this year's Project Compassion stories.

Among our many projects, Caritas Australia will help:

- The people of Bangladesh through fish-farming and other income generation activities.
- The people of East Timor as they rebuild their lives.
- The people of South Africa as they determine ways to respond to HIV and AIDS and seek to challenge the stigma and discrimination associated with the disease.
- The people of Peru as they develop their crop, cattle and sheep production.
- The people of Vietnam through income generation and other educational programs such as a savings group and health education.
- Indigenous Australian women as they acquire financial literacy skills to empower their lives.

Building a just world involves standing in solidarity with the oppressed. It also involves looking at the way we treat ourselves, each other and our global family. If the vision of Populorum Progressio is to be truly realised we need to practice and promote justice in all that we do. Let us rise to this challenge.

Wishing you a very successful Project Compassion,

Yours sincerely in Christ

Archbishop Adrian L Doyle
