Seeking climate champions

Climate change is already hurting vulnerable communities and making hard lives even harder. It's the single biggest challenge we face to ending extreme poverty worldwide.

Australia and the world are at a crossroads for tackling climate change. The Earth is warming more rapidly than at any time in human history. We need your help as we petition the Australian Government to take stronger action to protect our communities from the harmful impact of climate change.

This year Caritas Australia and many other faith-based organisations are coordinating a huge campaign for climate justice: a multi-electorate, 150-petition campaign involving every MP in the country. We are seeking climate champions to act as Petition Organisers and Principal Petitioners to coordinate our action as we stand together across Australia. Together we will send a resounding message to our political leaders that people of faith want climate justice.
